

Logical existentialism

Wednesday, 9 June 2021

Individual metaphysical reference frame

When we first open the concept $\alpha\phi\lambda$ [Individual metaphysical reference frame 2021/06/09 Journal 0] we might survey the products of realism, the world of reality. We might examine the prevalence of violence. From self to national defense, we seem to integrate violence into anything and everything as if it were pragmatic to do so. We might review the state of individual moral development. Issues of government are often mired in self actuality. The incompleteness of comprehension, the insustainability of immorality.

It does not follow that violence is pragmatic. Violence is not rational. A pragmatic and rational defense of self occurs by the maintenance of boundaries and distances. The prevalence of violence is irrational. For example, political criminality in government [Political class conflict 2021/06/08 Journal 0].

Many of the horizons open by communication are vital. Many of the errors of conception and comprehension are critical. Some are unprepared. Some are careless. Some are reckless. This aspect of the common social realism is a cause for caution in the adoption of social reality in lieu of the observation of actuality.

John Pritchard, @syntelos [CC-BY-NC]