

As a poem becomes a prayer, I love thee.

As a soul becomes divine, I love thee.

As my heart would crush itself to protect you, I love thee.

Last night we became lovers since we were two.

I can't remember what the words are that represent that, but I know it to be true.