

Logical existentialism

Friday, 5 February 2021

A logical psychology of development

A cognitive process has a strategy or theme of effect. It is classified by one of self preservation or self destruction.

In awareness one maintains a conservation of self, other, and society. By insecurity one is prey to the passions of cognitive processes derived from objectification and rationalization in place of reflection.

A psychological phenomenology of narcissism, sadism, masochism, and supremacism is a possible ontology of cognitive strategy (in illbeing). Another is existentialism, subsistentism, and nihilism (as wellbeing, crisis, and grave).

John Pritchard, @syntelos [CC-BY-NC]